The Baptism of the Lord

Isaiah 42:1-4, 6-7; Ps 29:1-2, 3-4, 3, 9-10
 Acts 10:34-38; Matthew 3:13-17

The Christmas season officially comes to an end this Sunday with the Feast of the Baptism of the Lord. However, in the days prior to the Second Vatican Council, the season of Christmas extended to February 2nd—the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord or Candlemas Day. Nonetheless, as the song goes, “We need a little Christmas right this very minute/we need a little Christmas now.” The sentiment of Christmas should be carried with us throughout the whole year, not just for a few short weeks. The meaning of that great Solemnity of Christmas and all the feelings that it engenders need to be kept close to our hearts and realized in our actions. Today’s Feast of the Baptism of the Lord also reminds us that our baptism, like that of Jesus, needs to be actualized each and every day.

Today’s Gospel is one we read every year, so it is easy to lose sight of just how incredible it is that Jesus wished to be baptized in the Jordan River by His cousin, John. We just spent the last two weeks marveling at the fact that this Savior of ours was born as a baby in a crude stable for our sake, and now this! Stop and contemplate our Lord in all His perfection waiting quietly and patiently in line with a bunch of sinners (like us!) in order to “lead by example.” His love and humility in serving and self-giving are beyond all telling.

Certainly, the sinless Savior did not need a baptism of repentance! John himself noted that in comparison to Jesus, he was not even worthy to loosen His sandal straps. But Jesus humbly made Himself one with his people to draw us to Him and create a relationship with us so that we would be open to His teachings and influence.

And just in case there was any doubt about the extraordinary actions of Jesus that day at the Jordan River, we learn of the powerful affirmation of the Father who, immediately after the baptism, opens the heavens, sends the Holy Spirit upon Jesus in bodily form and says audibly, “This is my beloved Son with whom I am well-pleased.”

Our baptism, like that of Jesus, initiates our spiritual life. It propels us into ministry and challenges us to imitate the one who created, redeemed, and sanctified us.

Let us be filled with gratitude for our amazing God and be reminded that when we are grateful followers of Jesus and servant-leaders in imitation of Him, the Father will be well-pleased with us, too. 🍀

Week of Prayer for Christian Unity

Every year, between January 18-25, is the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, an annual ecumenical celebration in which Christians around the world are invited to pray for the unity of all Christians. The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity has a history of over 100 years, in which Christians around the world have taken part in an octave of prayer for visible Christian unity. By annually observing the WPCU, Christians move toward the fulfillment of Jesus’ prayer at the Last Supper “that they all may be one.” (cf. John 17:21) The 2020 theme for the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity has been selected. “They Showed Us Unusual Kindness” (cf. Acts 28:2). Let us join together with our brothers and sisters throughout the world during this week of prayer.

January: Month of the Holy Name of Jesus

“It is the divine name that alone brings salvation.”
- Catechism of the Catholic Church, 4

The month of January is dedicated to the Holy Name of Jesus. The Church celebrates the feast of the Holy Name on January 3. This month, take time to celebrate its power and significance, for the name of Jesus is truly the “Name above all names.”

Please join us as we take down the Christmas decorations following the 10:30 a.m. Mass this Sunday, January 12.

New Parish Council Members

The Parish Council welcomes its new members:

Brother John Byrd

Jim Mullooly

Sara Risovich

Lanny Sacco

Ginny Shutler

We congratulate them and thank them for agreeing to serve our parish in this important way.

May the Holy Spirit enlighten their minds and guide all their actions that they may be renewed in faith, united in love, and bring to fulfillment the work of God's Church.

Cold/Flu Season Reminder

During the cold and flu season, we ask that everyone be mindful of others when attending Mass. If you are sick and believe you are contagious, stay home. The obligation to attend Mass is not required if you are ill. If you do have cold or flu like symptoms, do not feel that you have to exchange the Sign of Peace with others. Simply wave or nod your head to your neighbors. If your parish has a custom of holding hands during the Lord's Prayer, parishioners who are ill may fold their hands in a prayerful posture. While it is the norm in the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston to receive the Eucharist under both sacred species, refrain from drinking from the chalice if you feel ill. You are still receiving the Body, Blood, Soul and Divinity of the Lord.

“The Lord will bless his people with his peace.”

Life's trials train Christians to be sensitive to others, pope says

By Junno Arocho Esteves, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) -- Christians survive trials and tribulations with the help of their faith in Christ and pay it forward by being compassionate toward others who suffer, Pope Francis said.

"A 'tried' Christian can certainly become closer to those who suffer and make his or her heart open and sensitive in solidarity with others," the pope said Jan. 8 during his weekly general audience.

Arriving at the Paul VI hall for the first audience of the new year, the pope greeted pilgrims as he made his way toward the stage.

Following an incident Jan. 31 in which the pope slapped the hand of an overly eager pilgrim who grabbed him, he jokingly expressed fear of greeting an excited nun who wanted to give him a kiss on the cheek.

"No, I'm scared. You bite," he said as the nun and pilgrims around her laughed.

After the nun reassured him that no harm would come, the pope said, "I will give you a kiss but be calm; don't bite." He then embraced and kissed the nun who thanked him as she bounced up and down with glee.

Continuing his series of talks on the Acts of the Apostles, Pope Francis reflected on St. Paul's dangerous voyage by sea from Caesarea to Rome as a prisoner of the Roman Empire.

Ignoring the apostle's dire warning, the Roman centurion escorting him sailed into a raging storm at sea.

However, when "death seems imminent and despair pervades everyone," Paul encourages those on board to not lose faith, the pope said.

"Even in trial, he does not cease to be the guardian of the lives of others and the animator of their hope," he said.

After shipwrecking on the island of Malta, the pope said, Paul takes the opportunity to exercise "his ministry of compassion" by healing the sick.

In doing so, the apostle shows that "any person who has experienced a profound liberation becomes more sensitive to the needs of others," he said.

"This is a law of the Gospel: When a believer experiences salvation, he does not keep it for himself but puts it into circulation," he said.

Pope Francis said that Paul's experience proves that "God can act in any circumstance, even in the midst of apparent failure."

His example also a call to other Christians to show compassion to those who suffer and experience "the frost of indifference and inhumanity" today, he said.

"Let us ask the Lord today to help us to live every trial sustained by the energy of faith and to be sensitive to the many shipwrecked people in history who come to our shores exhausted, so that we too may know how to welcome them with that fraternal love which comes from the encounter with Jesus," the pope said. 🕊

Matthew 3:13-17

Matthew's Gospel begins the public life of Jesus with his baptism by John. We believe that Jesus was sinless and that he was always good. So why did Jesus travel to the Jordan River where John was baptizing for the sake of repentance? Why did Jesus have to repent? He didn't do anything wrong. To answer this, we have to read the whole story.

Jesus went into the water. Water is needed for life. But water can also kill. The story of Noah is about the lethal side of water. As the story goes, all the people on earth with the exception of Noah and his family were terrible. So terrible, that God decided to get rid of them. The point of the Noah story worth recalling is the role of the dove. Noah sent out a dove to see if land had appeared above the water. That was necessary for life to continue. The first dove sent didn't come back. No land yet, was Noah's judgment. A second dove was sent and returned with an olive branch. A good sign, Noah concluded. Some land was available but the dove came back because there was insufficient land to support life. A third dove was sent and never returned to the ark. That's the sign we needed, Noah said. The dove could live on the land. Therefore, so could Noah and his brood. Life could continue.

As Christians we were baptized, cleansed, and anointed for the work our Father has for us. We recreate this moment eachtime we bless ourselves with holy water when we enter and exit church. Our Heavenly Father is well pleased with us when we acknowledge that we need His help in our ministries, our jobs, and our relationships. The next time you put your hands in Holy Water, ask God to bless, strengthen and guide you as you work to build His kingdom here on earth. 🌱

This Week with the Saints

January 13 - Saint Hilary (315-368) was the bishop of Poitiers, France, during the era of the Arian heresy, and he fought for the correct understanding and expression of the divinity of Christ. He was known as the “hammer against Arianism” and the “Athanasius of the West,” after the bishop of Alexandria who fought the heresy in the East. The Christian world was so divided by Arianism that Hilary was exiled twice. His great contribution was the successful expression in Latin of the theology about Christ, or Christology, that had been developed in Greek.

January 17 - Early in his life, Saint Anthony of Egypt (251-356) discovered the importance of solitude in knowing oneself in relationship to God. Solitude provides the vehicle through which one battles demons and removes worldly distractions that distance the heart from the will of God. For nearly thirty years, St. Anthony journeyed in the desert, where he lived a life of solitary prayer and self-discipline - a life of utter dependence on God. After his time in the desert, he emerged as a man of balance, ready to share all he learned regarding the human thirst for God. Realizing that the spiritual life takes root within a community of believers, he founded a group of monks. While serving as abbot, a spiritual father, to the monks, St. Anthony mentored them in the ways of contemplative prayer and helped them overcome illusory thinking. His dynamic personality continued to attract individuals. As a result, he counseled a steady stream of pilgrims and laid the foundation for many monasteries.

Why did Jesus decide to be baptized by St. John the Baptist? From Alethea

“In those days Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee and was baptized by John in the Jordan” (Mk 1:9). But he, the cornerstone of the new covenant, had no need of a (marginal) purification from the old one. By definition, this was not a Christian baptism since it is Jesus Himself who is its foundation. What’s more, this sign of penance for sins has no effect on the One who, par excellence, has no sin of which to be purified. This seems then a pointless baptism. And yet ...

By His baptism, Jesus manifests His Father’s saving plan

Jesus goes through this rite, not for Himself, but for us. Indeed, He marks in His person the juncture between the two Testaments. Jesus is the culmination of the Old while inaugurating the New. He ensures their continuity by instituting a rupture: Himself. Yet it is the same God who forgives, before Him and through Him. This same God is He Himself. The baptism willed by Jesus and conferred by John orchestrates the design of the entire Bible. The same loving God forgives, saves, loves. Jesus doesn’t seek to live but to show. He is the manifestation of the saving plan of the Father.

And so it is with the liturgy: it manifests what God intends to offer us. As St. Augustine said, echoed in a preface of the Mass, “Our praises add nothing to your greatness but profit us for salvation, through Christ our Lord.” We give thanks to God for being our God. He makes us participants in his glory. Yes, God well knows what we ask of Him, but he wants us to ask Him for ourselves, and through Christ. That does us good, in that it raises us up to Him.

Prayer that profoundly transforms us

We need to appreciate how much prayer, and particularly the liturgy as the vehicle of all possible prayer, is transformative. It’s not that it performs miracles in the sense of “I pray, and hey presto! it works!” But it transforms us deep within. It makes us Christians and, as such, teaches us to see and to act according to God.

Our thoughts and our actions are shaped by this transformation. And the result is no longer the same. That’s what’s changed! The miracle is us, as we turn to God. Those who pray the office almost every day — vespers, for example, or complines — experience this. Their prayer breathes the oxygen of the Church.

Day of Prayer for the Legal Protection of Unborn Children

On Wednesday, January 22, the Church in the United States observes the annual "Day of Prayer for the Legal Protection of Unborn Children." On January 22, 1973, the United States Supreme Court handed down a decision known as Roe versus Wade, which made abortion legal throughout the United States, and struck down many states' laws restricting abortion. As individuals, we are called to observe this day through the penitential practices of prayer, fasting and/or giving alms. "A great prayer for life is urgently needed, a prayer which will rise up throughout the world. Through special initiatives and in daily prayer, may an impassioned plea rise to God, the Creator and lover of life, from every Christian community, from every group and association, from every family and from the heart of every believer." -Pope Saint John Paul II, Evangelium vitae, 100
